What's New This Year?

All Legislative Sessions, General Sessions and Business Sessions will be in the Ballroom on the third floor. Elevators are located on the lobby level – check near the elevators for signs outlining the events being held in the Ballroom!

And, remember –

- Saturday Training Hours! 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.
- Monday's Luncheon and Installation of Officers and the Peach State Celebration will be in the Civic Center Arena.
- The Headliners will be in the Ballroom for the concluding dance.

What's New in the Lobby:

ACCG Customer Service Survey

Your feedback is important in helping to shape the future of ACCG. Stop by the ACCG customer service booth and take a short online survey. In return, you'll receive a free ticket for the cash prize drawing at the County Buyers Mart.

ACCG Membership Dashboard

Get a demo on the ACCG Dashboard, which is an interactive tool that provides easy access to the association's membership database including contact information on county officials and county staff along with access to your unique training records.

ACCG Policy Staff

The ACCG Policy Staff will be on hand to answer your legislative questions and summaries will be available for legislative issues that passed this session. They'll also be recruiting participation for all of the ACCG policy committees.

Georgia Food Bank Association

On Saturday, visit with representatives from the Georgia Food Bank Association. Stop by to learn about the seven regional food banks in Georgia, which collectively distribute more than 95 million pounds of food annually to over 2,500 partner nonprofits with food assistance programs in all 159 counties throughout the state.

ACGG President Melvin Davis, Oconee County

A little over 10 years ago, the movie “Remember the Titans” hit theaters across the country, telling the story of a high school football team in Virginia. The movie was based on the life of Coach Herman Boone, who will serve as the opening general session keynote speaker at the 2012 Annual meeting. Hear an inspiring lesson on how investing and believing in your community can lead to success, even in the midst of challenging times.

Learning Center

The Learning Center at the ACCG Annual Meeting features short sessions designed to showcase partnerships and products that can help counties operate more efficiently or offer benefits to county employees or the community. Check out the great sessions offered this year.

Mason Room

8:30 a.m. - 9:00 a.m.

Siemens Healthcare Diagnostics

Siemens Healthcare Diagnostics will explain how Georgia counties can lower pre-employment and employee drug-testing program costs by establishing an automated laboratory. These facilities can also provide additional revenues for the counties by providing testing for "drug-free workplaces" and schools, thereby helping to improve workplace safety and provide a deterrent to drug use.

9:00 a.m. - 9:30 a.m.

Coast2Coast Rx Discount Card

Coast2Coast Rx Discount Card is one of ACCG's newest preferred partners. This prescription drug card program offers significant discounts on prescriptions filled by local retailers and other medical services for families and individuals who are not insured or who are underinsured. Find out how your county can sign up to offer this service to citizens in your community.

9:30 a.m. - 10:00 a.m.

Georgia United Credit Union

ACCG recognizes that employee benefits are an important part of recruitment and retention for individuals working in county government. The newest addition to ACCG's programs for county employees is access to Georgia United Credit Union. Learn how county employees and elected officials can access value-priced financial services online, in person and over the phone through Georgia United Credit Union.

10:00 a.m. - 10:30 a.m.

Tax Reform and Open Meetings/Open Records - What the Changes in Law Mean to Your County

Perhaps no other legislative action got more attention this year than the changes made to Georgia's tax laws. Come hear a detailed explanation of the changes that took place and the ways they will affect your county and citizens. Vicki Lambert with the Georgia Department of Revenue will discuss implementation details of the new title tax law and the ACCG policy team will outline other changes that impact county government. The policy team will also examine changes to the open meetings/open records law passed during the 2012 legislative session.

General Session:

“Focusing on Educational Assets in Your County”

County officials are focused on economic development and job creation to encourage investment in their communities. Yet when companies consider building or expanding in a particular area, many look at quality of life issues such as education which county government does not typically influence -- or does it? A panel of three experts will discuss how schools and other public facilities like libraries are important community assets. Georgia State School Superintendent Dr. John Barge discusses how the state is working to improve school achievement and how the waiver from “No Child Left Behind” and programs like “Race to the Top” can affect your local schools. Georgia School Boards Association Executive Director Sis Henry focuses on the changing face of public education, on building community partnerships, and on ways austerity cuts can help foster those collaborative efforts. Public libraries today are a vital part of the education framework in our communities, and Georgia State Librarian Dr. Lamar Veatch explains the value of public libraries and the diverse services they are providing.

General Session:

“Making Criminal Justice Reform Work”

Georgia's tough stance on crime has removed many dangerous individuals from our communities, but it also has created other problems such as higher public safety costs at the state and local level. Jail overcrowding, recidivism, sentencing and other issues were thoroughly examined over the last year through the work of the Special Council on Criminal Justice Reform. Georgia Department of Corrections Commissioner Brian Owens will provide an overview of the state's prison system and outline changes made by the 2012 Georgia General Assembly. One of the solutions that has been widely discussed is the expansion of accountability courts. State Court Judge Chief Kent Lawrence and Athens-Clarke County Manager Alan Reddish will explain how their drug courts work in their community and how you can use their model to set up similar programs in your county.

Moderator: Debra Nesbit, ACCG Associate Legislative Director
